containing the maximum concentration of a solute dissolved in the solvent. The additional solute will not dissolve in a saturated solution. The amount of solute that can be dissolved in a solvent to form a saturated solution depends on a variety of factors.

Saturated Solution Definition and Examples

A saturated solution is a solution that contains the maximum amount of solute that can be dissolved under the condition at which the solution exists. In chemistry, after studying solutions and properties of the solution, one can understand that a solution can reach a status of saturation. This state is when the solution has reached a point in which no more solute can be added.

saturated solution is placed in contact with additional solute, solute neither dissolves nor is deposited. When water, or any solvent, has dissolved as much of any substance as it can, it is a saturated solution.

Saturated solution | definition of saturated solution by ...

The term saturated solution is used in chemistry to define a solution in which no more solute can be dissolved in the solvent. It is understood that saturation of the solution has been achieved when any additional substance that is added results in a solid precipitate or is let off as a gas.

Examples of Saturated Solution

A saturated solution is a solution that contains the maximum amount of solute that is capable of being dissolved. At 20°C, the maximum amount of NaCl that will dissolve in 100. g of water is 36.0 g. If any more NaCl is added past that point, it will not dissolve because the solution is saturated.

A supersaturated solution is one that has more solute than it can hold at a certain temperature. Typically when the temperature of a solution is increased, more particles can be dissolved, thus increasing the amount of solute. A supersaturated solution goes through all of the steps listed above for the iced tea.

Chemistry | Socratic

A saturated solution is a chemical solution containing the maximum concentration of a solute dissolved in the solvent. This means no more solutes can be dissolved in that solution. If more solutes are added to this solution, it leaves the excess solutes at the bottom of the container.

Saturated Solution - Introduction, Affecting Factors ...

A saturated solution contains more solute per volume of solvent than an unsaturated solution. The solute has dissolved until no more can, leaving undissolved matter in the solution. Usually, the undissolved understanding that a solution can reach "saturated" status. This means that the solution has reached the level in which no more of the added substance, also known as the solvent, can be dissolved.
